Dear Mr. McGill:

During its meeting of 19 May 2005, the Commission reviewed and approved the concept for a child care center for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development at 451 Seventh Street, SW. The Commission members also noted that while it is reasonable to express the entrance architecturally, its proposed design should be modified to be more consistent with the architectural style of the building and its existing features.

The Commission looks forward to the review of this project for the General Services Administration. As always, the staff is available to assist you.

Sincerely,
